Hello FCC,
I'm an XM-radio subscriber and I currently enjoy everything that they have to offer on thier music and news stations. What the FCC is proposing to do is infringing upon the rights of the paying customer (me) who pays a monthly fee and expects to get all of the programming that XM-radio has to offer; including traffic and weather channels. XM-radio is not your only compitition; so you all need to pick your fights elsewhere because XM-radio is for the subscribing public who enjoys their listening variety that they have to offer.

Thanks for your ear.
